

Green Jobs Report

Green Jobs Report

By | Oct 29, 2013

The growing demands of the global economy are changing continuously due to increased energy demand, rising population, climate change and pollution, and reductions in the fossil fuel supply. Both the public and private sectors are actively pursuing ways to take advantage of the "Green Evolution" of today's economy. As entrepreneurial interests and governmental initiatives increase, municipalities will be able to attract significant numbers of new green businesses and jobs as well as their accompanying tax benefits.
